Protestants Pledge Study

GENEVA (UPI)—The executive committee of the World Council of Churches showed renewed interest yesterday in tightening the bonds of Christianity with Moscow and Rome.

Winding up five days of secret sessions, the 14-member committee of Protestant and Orthodox churchmen agreed to consider closely any new Vatican move toward Christian unity.

They indicated they would like more details on Pope John's plan for an ecumenical council for Christian unity, particularly regarding the basis on which non-Catholic churchmen would be invited to participate.

(In Vatican City, officials were reported studying "with interest" the results of the council committee meeting and other statements by non-Catholics on the ecumenical council.)

The executive committee also discussed bringing the Russian Orthodox church into the council, and such problems as nuclear testing and the Cyprus issue.

Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Istanbul has also expressed interest in the Pope's plan.

Like the World Council, he made it clear the eastern Orthodox Church is not prepared for unity with Roman Catholics if it means compromise with its basic principles.

The Patriarch, however, greeted the Pope's appeal "in brotherly spirit" and said it was clear Christians "must truly meet again and become united."

Anglicans Confirmed Sunday

Sacred rite of confirmation will be conducted Sunday by Archbishop Harold E. Sexton during the morning service at Christ Church Cathedral.

"Confirmation reaches through the years like a living chain, binding together each succeeding generation," Rev. Brian Whitlow said yesterday.

Church members to be presented include Douglas Abbott, Norman Abbott, Phoebe Abbott, Vivienne Abbott, Jean Barker, Annie Chan, Patricia Crerar, Phyllis Davis, Daphne Gage, Elizabeth Hainsworth, Garth Homer, Patricia Izard, Charles Lendrum, John Lendrum, Kenneth Little, D'Arcy Lubin, Elizabeth Moore, Susan Moore, Walter Pettigrew, Elizabeth Pickering, Janis Quebec, Margaret Robertson, Neil Robertson, Stephanie Sills, Ada Spaven, Bernard Spaven, Gale Sullivan, Gwendolyn Walker, Ronald Wattie, John Webb, Ann Wood, Edna Wride, and Peter Wright.

First United At 3,000 Mark

First United Church, corner Quadra and Balmoral, added 274 to its membership last year, for a total membership of 3,000, it was announced during the annual congregational meeting held at the church last night.

Of the $104,000 raised from all sources during the year, $23,000 was given to missionary work.

The missionary and maintenance fund was voted $17,500 from the 1959 budget last night, and $20,000 is to be spent on the B.C. Conference development fund during the next three years.

A committee was named to arrange the program and projects for the church's centennial celebrations three years from now, and a committee was set up to investigate the possibility of getting chimes for the church tower.

Catching up on a half-century of time are Mrs. Charles Sanderson, 1016 Redfern, and Father Andrew Blair of Mirfield, Yorkshire. Mrs. Sanderson was nurse to Father Blair when he was tiny boy in Barnwell, Somerset, and in Edinburgh. They had not seen each other since 1909, and Mrs. Sanderson is convinced she "gave boy good start in life."—(Colonist photo.)

Missionary Was 'Her Boy'

Half-Century Bridged By Visit with Nurse

Conversation turned back a half-century in a Victoria home yesterday, as a city woman and the "boy" she nursed as a child met again for the first time in 50 years.

The "boy" is now Father Andrew Blair, prior of the Anglican Community of the Resurrection, an order with headquarters at Mirfield, Yorkshire, noted for missionary and teaching work in Africa, Borneo, Ceylon, India, Australia and the West Indies.

With Father Hilary Beasley, also from Mirfield, Father Blair arrived in Victoria yesterday. The two will conduct an eight-day mission here, with meetings Sunday at 7.30 p.m. and weekdays at 8 p.m. in St. Barnabas Church. The meetings are open to the public.

The community has attracted wide attention through its opposition in South Africa to the apartheid policy of segregating the colored people of that country.

Neither Victoria visitor has been in South Africa, but, said Father Beasley, they are in full accord with the stand taken by the community.

"Segregation is very much against our teachings," he said. "The Negro has the same standing in the eyes of God as the white man, and should be treated as such."

Father Blair meanwhile was reminiscing with Mrs. Charles Sanderson, 1016 Redfern, a Victoria resident since 1910.

As Rose Lancaster, Mrs. Sanderson was nurse to the Blair family when Andrew Blair was born in Barnwell, Somerset. When the boy was two his family moved to Edinburgh, and Nurse Lancaster went along and remained with the family until 1909, when she came to Canada.

This trip, said Father Blair, was his first time "west of Land's End" although he has spent some years in the Far East.

Wardens Elected At St. Barnabas'

Cyril Norman was elected rector's warden and Eric Foster people's warden at the recent annual meeting of St. Barnabas' Church.

Church committee include: Mrs. J. B. Anderson, Mrs. N. Bradshaw, Mrs. A. Young, F. C. Bett, E. Eastick, G. Espin, E. E. Heath, V. Morrow, J. Rowe, P. Raven, and G. Freeman.

The Berlin ultimatum and the possibility of war will be discussed by Rev. R. E. S. Toms during the 7.30 p.m. service in the Evangelistic Temple, Blanshard and Queens.

★ ★ ★

Guest preacher Rev. Grahame M. Reeve, teacher and dean of men at Northwest Baptist Bible College in Vancouver, will conduct both services at Central Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Early communion will be attended by members of Young People's Corporate, followed by a breakfast at St. John's Anglican Church.

Rev. J. A. Roberts, rural dean of Victoria, will conduct the 11 a.m. service.

★ ★ ★

First sermon in the Lenten series "Sins Which Threaten Civilization" will be given by Rev. G. R. Easter during the morning service at First Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Director of Christian education at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. D. Ralph MacDonald will conduct the morning service.

Rev. David Murphey of Knox-Erskine Presbyterian Church will discuss "Good News or Good Advice?" during the evening service.

★ ★ ★

Annual Prairie Night will be held for ex-Prairie residents during the evening service conducted by Rev. Douglas B. Carr at Centennial United Church.
